Dear Parents and Carers

Our Science and Personal, Social and Health education (PSHE) curriculum coverage this half term will include Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) in all classes.

RSE is about physical, moral and emotional development and helps young people to understand the value and importance of respect, love, care, marriage and stable relationships.

Linked closely to the whole school PSHE theme of 'Health and Relationships' and our science topics in many year groups, RSE will be taught from the week commencing Monday 26th June. Lessons will be carried out in class and single sex groups where appropriate. We will use circle time, group work and discussion based on a scheme of work called 'The Christopher Winter Project', to support our RSE teaching and learning. An overview of the curriculum coverage for each year group and progression across the school is attached. The content covered will be carefully planned to ensure that it is taught in an age-appropriate and sensitive way.

If you have any questions about RSE please send an email to the admin email address or call and leave a message to speak to a member of the leadership team. To ensure there is enough time for a proper discussion please ensure you make an appointment to talk to a member of the leadership team by Thursday 22nd June, rather than trying to speak to your child's class teacher first thing in the morning before school.

If you would like some further information, we can provide a more detailed scheme of work for your child's year group, available from the school upon request.

Yours Sincerely

Rachel Rowe
Deputy Head & PSHE Subject Leader
